THE BANKS and Madison street generally were too quiet yesterday to be interesting. Money is like last winter's dry goods that lie on hand in the stores; and such is the experience everywhere. The New York Herold states: 'The course of money has been toward even lower rate, and capitalists and banking institutions having large amounts of funds to employ begin to be apprehensive lest he coming summer months should prive anything but fruitful of even the present small profits. Demand loans have been done at 21 to 31 per cent., with 8 as the more common tharge; this on pledge of the neu a collateral. To borrowers on United States bonds the suring rates were 24 to 3. The rates on commercial paper are toward easier terms, because the small amount of names being The late stoppage of mills in the New England Sates, and the recent wool failures, have caused more than usual discrimination." Pienty of money to land, but increased discrimination in lending it—that is the policy everywhere. The New York Times says: "This point is even more fully supplied with loanable fun is than usual at this season of the year, and it will take a marked revival in trade and an increased volume of epeculation to affect rates to any extent. In connection with the low rates of interest now juling, it should be rememhered that there has been for a long time past a great shrinkage in values on the stock exchange and in most of the necesesties of life, Influences which are highly important in considering the extraordinary abundance of capital at the chief bos ness centers of the country. The failing off in trade and the curtailment in credits is reflected in the small amount of commercial paper." The same paper rays the late "heavy gain. ed Sixtes notes is the result of a continued influx from the interior, and an outflow from the treasury in payment of the checks issued some time since to Alabama claimants. The continued exports of gold to Europa have finally affected the specie average, which this week shows a decrease of $1,030 800. The loans bave fallen off $1,717,800 under the small demand for money. The circulation is down $53,dealers were offering $2 25@2 75 for 590. The increase of legal-tenders over locse, when large enough to ship. Stock tue combined decrease in the other items peas are still inquired for at 80c@$1 25. Eggs were very dull; some dealers were has raised the deposit line to the extant of $985 200. The statement indicates continued ease in money." The supply of ex change in our market continues small, but so light is the demand for it that customers. Chickens, when fine and large, were readily taken; "poor stuff and sparrow ribs" had little chance; the banks are "comfortable," and occsonally have some to dispose of. Gold in New York at noon quoted 1121, here sales of young at $1 50@3 50; mixed, brokers were buying it at 1114@1114. Business in the tends is improving as the river declines. We don't want any more wetness in ours for the next two weeks.

A new enterprise has developed at Vicksburg since that pond has formed above the cutoff, and sail-boat builders are reaping a harvest. It is probable that the Sullivan will get a beat named after him now-that is, if he pays for the Some of those Vicksburgars will be coroner's material if they don't quit foling about that "lake." See here: "Some of the enterprising young men who built a skiff last week went out on the lake Sunday for a triel trip. Not being experienced boat-builders or boatowers, the craft caperzed and gave them an unexpected bath. After making some needed changes they propose to try again."

Cincinnati Times, Monday: 'Captain John Woodburn went to Madison yes-terday, on the United States, to close the contract with Captain Dan Morton for his new boat. Captain Grammer has examined the wreck of the Cleburne, and finds that it was one of the boilers only which exploded, the larboard outside one. There is room for three or four vessels abreast in Ends's jetties, while only one vessel can pass through the Southwest Passat a time " Captain John H. Mossop writes from Jeffer on ville encouragingly of the new Robert E. Lee: "We are getting along finely. The new bull was placed alongside the old boat on the first of May, and since that time the boilers have been put in their place, and the cylinders taken off the old boat and put in the new one. The shafts have been transferred to the new boat, and they will commence filling the wheels to-day, and if we have no bad luck this week we will have the new chimneys up by Saturday. Have commenced on the texas, and by the middle of the next week we will have it about done. So far every-thing is going on all right, but we have a great ceal of light work to do yet. But all is moving forward as rapidly as possible, and everything will be finished in style and in perfect taste, and the boat will be the grandest thing off at. Captain Cannon is doing very well, and of course has general survey of the whole work, and will see that all is done in a proper manner."
